Heart & Soul

BY CARLY PETERS

"I do it because I like it. I don't do what other people are doing," explains Heinz Albers, owner of H. Albers Builders Ltd. when questioned about his affinity for pairing walnut - a favourite hardwood of Albers and his quality-conscious customers - and white high-gloss cabinetry. "Just wait, you'll start to see others doing it next season," he adds.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, everyone else will need to step up their game to try and match the unparalleled level of knowledge and expertise that Albers brings to every one of his custom built homes. Working directly with clients one-on-one, from concept to finished product, the company's exceptional homes always feature skillful, high quality construction and aesthetically pleasing, well-designed spaces.

"Architecture is like medicine; it helps you enjoy life more," he laughs. "Architecture is everything."

Albers latest showhome at 14 Heartleaf Lane in Sage Creek embodies this sentiment, boasting over 1,700 square feet of well thought out design and aesthetics. The large tiled foyer, doused in light from large front windows and accented by a statement-piece lighting fixture of chrome and crystal from Superlite, gives visitors the chance to take a moment before fully entering the bungalow.

The aforementioned walnut and high-gloss marriage is made in the home's great room cabinetry, set alongside a unique, new fireplace surround Albers brought in from Arizona. With the look of a solid sheet of stone, the grey fireplace surround ties in perfectly with the distressed wood floors running through the main level.

The kitchen once again takes the richness of the walnut and uses it to warm the high-gloss cabinetry and cool-toned countertops that run along the eight-foot island. Superlite added a touch of sparkle to the clean lines with matching pendant lighting over the island and eating area, offering the space a little symmetry.

With two bedrooms on the main floor there can always be a concern about privacy. But at 14 Heartleaf Lane, Albers took that into consideration, placing the one bedroom and the master suite on opposite ends of the house. The master bedroom features a deluxe ensuite with a double vanity, large tiled shower, and a soaker tub.

This home, and the ones that have come before it, pull from Albers' desire to look beyond the local market for inspiration. His favourite muse destination is Europe, where home design trends are very different from the North American market, taking romantic luxury and pairing it with contemporary simplicity.

And, while other showhomes may employ a certain style, application alone is not enough. Knowledge, know how, and skilled craftsmanship are also required. H. Albers Builders are able to show that homes with solid design, free of fads and trends are a smart investment for years to come.

The craftsmanship complies with the company's high standards, which includes a fantastic selection of colours for exterior and interior applications, as well as multiple precious wood options. As a craftsman himself, Albers demands the highest standards of quality in the industry so that every home he builds will stand the test of time. Let's just say that's the way Heinz Albers likes it.
